

Vervet Monkey

We had the first off many lovely sunsets. The colours off the rocks and the sun were very beautiful.

Sunset

Father and daughter enjoying the sunset.

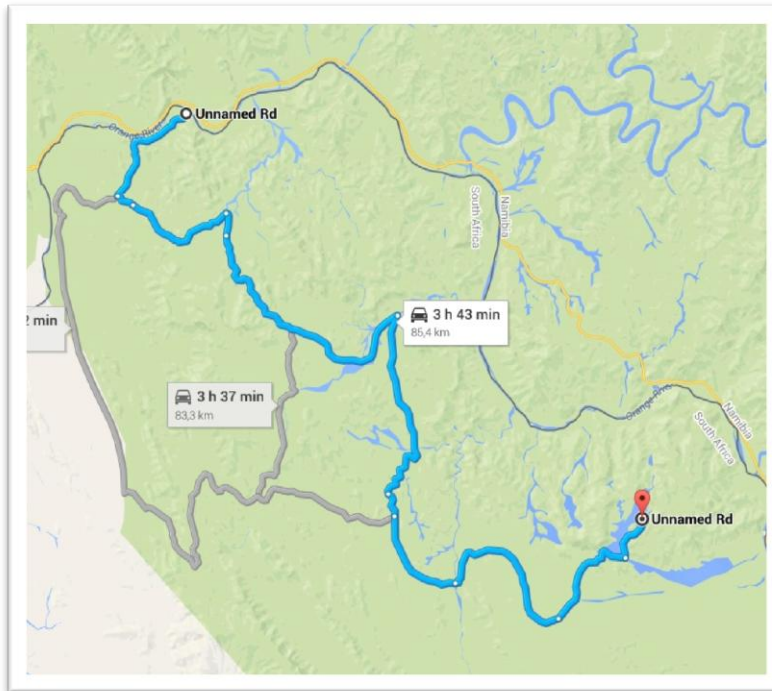

We had a nice braai the evening to end a very nice first day in the Richtersveld. The only trouble we had with Potjiespram campsite was the road on the Namibian side on the other side off the river. At some stage an ambulance or something with a siren came past. There were also some dogs barking on the Namibian side.

Day 4, 28 April 2015

Potjiespram to Kokerboomkloof, 85km 5:30h

Day 4 route.

After breaking up camp we left Potjiespram the morning at 10:00 for Kokerboomkloof. It was a nice cool day and a very nice day for traveling.

Just outside Potjiespram campsite

Just after the turnoff on the road from Sendelingsdrif we came across our first Halfmense (Pachypodium namaquanum). We were probably like a first time visitor to the Kruger Park that sees an Impala. We stopped and took photos, but later on they were all over and it was nice to see them but no more stopping and photos.

Halfmens Plant

We also came across one off the local farmers with his goats.
